MISCELLANEOUS.

From the Whig Standard The Old Whig Cause.

And its chieftain, Henry Clay-Though it tells of trials pressing sore, They are rapidly passing away

It brings us back to the Harrison day, When, like valliant men and true, We fought with the Locofoco hosts, And gallantly conquered them too

The old Whig cause-it is still the same As it was in Harrison's time, And the patriot now who leads us on Is the statesman, Henry Clay. And though treachery struck down our flag In a rascally renegade's reign, Yet the people will bear it aloft, And with it will triumph again

Hurrah, hurrah for the old Whig cause, And may Providence soon bring the day When the "Accident' leaves with his party "in haste,' And the White House is filled with a Clay; For his triumph's the triumph of right Over treachery, corruption, misrule, And his reign will bring every thing back To the honest Republican school.

Hurrah for our flag, on its folds are no stains, See, it waves in defiance to-day, And will wave when the motley remains Of Destructives have fled in dismay; And the deserters that left our old cause

To riot in "Uncle Sam's clover," Will "shiver and shake in their shoes," When they find that their days are all over

To sink in oblivion's dark waves,

Whilst the scorn and the loathing of all Shall follow them down to their graves Then the country shall rise in her strength-The Whig cause in triumph prevail, And the shout that the victors shall make Shall burthen the breeze and the gale

The hill tops shall ring with that shout-The valleys re-echo the cry, And the rock-bound shores of the north

Shall peal forth the victory. East, West, North and South, united shall stand As one family, in glorious array, And the land be filled with an earthquake shout For our cause and its chief, HENRY CLAY.

Ancient Relics in Georgia.

The workmen on the great Georgia Central Railroad (now being extended from Savannah in the direction of the St. Louis, Missouri,) have lence, or breach of the peace. discovered a curious relic in the neighborhood of the celebrated mound near Macon. About beyond all doubt the cheerful four feet below the surface of the earth, a large the Irish are determined to adhere to their glorious earthern pot was discovered, which would probably hold about eight gallons; but it was unfortunately broken in the excavation. In this was a considerable quantity of corn, which appears to have been reduced to charcoal by fire, but the grains mostly retained their perfect shape. This was in good preservation. Beneath the spot, there were distinct evidences of a fire, and a kind of fire-place that had been much used. Not far from this spot, about two and a half feet below the surface, was found a huge human skeleton, but nothing near it, except a large flat stone, which seemed to have been placed on its end Other human bones have also been found thereabout, in making the excavations. The Macon Telegraph, of the 5th ult gives the following particulars:

Among others, part of the skeleton of a youth, seven or eight years old—the lower law of which was found entire, with parts of the old and new sets of teeth, one over the other, quite conspicu ous The occipital bone, or back of the skull, with its serrated edges, was in a good state of preservation An amateur phrenologist, on examining which remarked that the organ of philoprogenitiveness was full, and that of amativeness plenty large for a child ! From the largeness and soundness of the teeth, and the broadness of the chin, a professional dentist pronounced the skeleton to be that of an Indian boy, from 7 to 9 years old. Mr. O'Connell's New Address. "TO THE PEOPLE OF IRELAND

"Merrion-square, 20th October

"Beloved fellow countrymen-We are engaged the achieving of that restoration by means pure- strictly and exclusively peaceable and legal ly and entirely peaceable and legal sired; and I am endeavoring to prove to the world, that the moral combination of the people is the most potent means of procuring the amel. toration of the institutions of any country.

"The achievment of Catholic Emancipation was one such proof. The abrogation of the Legislative Union, by the repeal of the statute 40th George III, c 38, will be the second "We, fellow countrymen, have w rked out the first part of our experiment completely We have held some twenty monster meetings, to demonstrate the intensity and universality of the desire of the Irish people for the restoration of their domestic Parliament. So many human beings never congregated together for peaceful purposes as have assembled at these meetings -There may be a difference as to the amount by 20,000, 50,000, or 100,000, but there is no doubt ut all that such immense multitudes never assembled before, and at least one of them considerably exceeded 500,000 human sonis.

"This fact is certain—that some twenty meetings of the largest unarmed multitudes that ever assembled, were congregated together in Ireland during the past summer

"There is another fact equally certain-that at no one of these meetings did any act, however slight, of force, violence, assault or breach of the peace occur.

"Dwell upon this, all generous believers in the amelioration of the human race, wherever you be, throughout the world. Console yourselves with the conviction that men can meet in countless myriads, without the slightest violation of peace, of order, of decorum, of civility

"There is one additional characteristic of our multitudinous Irish meetings-that so disposed were the people to avoid all acts of force, even for individual accommodation, that not so much as a personal injury occurred, even accidentally, at any of those meetings.

"The experiment was thus complete in both its parts,-firstly, in showing the unanimous, universal will of the Irish people in favor of the repeal of the 40th George III c 38, called the Union Statute; secondly, in the proof we gave of the perfect order, decorum, and thoroughly peaceable conduct of the Irish people.

" Nor was this experiment spoiled by the uncalled-for proclamation directed against the Clontarf meeting. On the contrary, the ready submission to a proclamation which we deemed, and still deem, illegal-the perfect obedience of the people to the advice of their guides and leaders -the promptitude with which they abandoned all idea of holding the meeting the very moment those guides and leaders told them they ought to abandon it—the perfect control over every exciting passion and irritating provocation which the Irish have since displayed, and are displaying-have all, all given practical proofs to the fullest demonstration, that the lessons of peace inculcated by their leaders have been fuly understood and adopted into the popular sentiment, and have become the fixed and unalterable rule of their political conduct. " Yes, the proclamation has demonstrated that the lish people are too well convinced of the strict propriety of peaceable demeanour, not only to be desirous of, but to be incapable of being provoked into any even the slightest force, vio-

"Yes, the proclamation has come to place sentiment, that permanently useful political change can be best attained by peaceable and moral means; and that no political change can be worth the price of any one crime, and above all, of one single drop of human blood. "Shall I be asked, what, then, is it I require of the Irish people? They have honoured me with a confidence more unlimited than ever was bestowed before by a nation a single individual. My duty is to advise them with something of that influence which almost resembles a com-

OF KENTUCKY.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1843. FOR PRESIDENT, HENRY CLAY,

SEE FIRST PAGE.

Tr We are strongly tempted to give several more extracts from Mr. Paine's excellent lecture before the Machanic Association. Our limits will not admit of indulging in full our desire, and we must be content with merely giving one or two pleasant points.

After alluding to the antediluvian period, and he mighty and melancholy shapes dimly seen in that twilight, for the purpose of showing that while superhuman attributes strike us with awe, it is the human only that we can understand and dwell upon as interesting. He then remarks;-

Thus, with awakened but unsatisfied curiosity, we turn from those old giants & demigods, which are nought to us but phantoms, and hearing, not precisely a concord of sweet sounds, but a somewhat homely, familiar jargon, we listen with delight to the harp of Jubal, in competition with the bleating flocks and bellowing herds of his brother, and the toaring forge and echoing anvil of Tubal Cain, and find ourselves quite at home, among men This TubalCain was a great man, but we have a blacksmith in our country who understands more languages than he did. For he lived before the confusion of Tongues. It would seem, it it were possible, that we are to witness in our day a miracle, the reverse of that of Bahel; the reunion of all tongues in one man .-And that man a practical mechanic! laboring daily with his hands, and, by night, communiesting with every nation on earth and importing the rich treasures of foreign tongues, to bestow them upon his own countrymen, in the choicest rhetoric of his own land's language.

Which was the greatest man, Alexander or Archimedes? Turks, Greeks and Russians are now contending for fragments of the territory which Alexander conjoined and ruled by a vast political power, the unity of which was severed before his own body was entombed. Little or no trace of his ever having existed is now to be found in the country which was once the theatre of his exploits and the seat of his power

But the influence of Archimedes still lives in France, in England, in America, in every civilized nation on earth. He found the place whereon to stand and move the world. Even then, when he announced his postulate, it was granted to him. Even then, unconsciously to himself, and in a higher sense than he contemplated, he occupied, as a philosopher, in his own native island of Sicily, the very place he sought. Standing there two thousand years ago, upon the solid ground of the great mathematical truths which he had discovered, he stretched forth the lever of mechanical science and gave the world an impulse which it has not yet lost, which it never can lose, and which is becoming daily more and more seen, more and more felt, in the continually accelerated advance of civilization Truly, "Alexander was a hero, but Archimedes

🙀 one." One of the greatest obstacles with which we have to contend in the pursuit of knowledge is that mental impatience which makes us despise the minute, but important details of our subject, and feast our fancy with grand outlines, bold designs, and brilliant results. These general impressions are, for the most part, vague and useless They belong to the province of emotions, rather than to that of ideas. As the eye ranges in a moment over a field of vision, which it would require many days to examine and explore, so the imagination may range in an idle hour over fields of knowledge which it would require years thoroughly to investigate and understand. Thus many, warmed into enthusiasm by the contemplation of some great invention. or of some distinguished character, have said to themselves, " I will go and do likewise." But after a few spasmodic efforts, finding their progress to be far short of their anticipations, they have abandoned in despair, perhaps never to resume, their cherished designs. Thus are good resolutions defeated by rash and presumptuous plans. But we ought always to bear in mind that it is from small beginnings and by slow de grees that the greatest works have been accomplished. What most men need most, is encouragement. If they cannot get it from others let them at least extend it to themselves. Let them deal gently with themselves in imposing the tack, and be rigid only in insisting upon its performance. Lord Byron mys that the way to secomplish much, is to attempt but little at a time, and refers us to Nature as an example. There is a great deal of wisdom in this remark. Let the then, mittate the wisdom of Nature, which by slight and silent changes, scarcely perceptible from day to day, effects, in the course of a single year, such autonishing revolutions on the face of the earth. Now clothing it with mow,like wood, to protect the germs of vegetation from the blighting front; then loosening the them on their winding way to the ocean; then, spreading over the waste and desolate hills and

(oh | need keay it?) be not dismayed. Peace, | ing in autumnal pomp, to crown the year with The same law of gradual developement, of

seed time and harvest, prevails in life as in Na-"Lives of great men all remind us,

We may make our lives sublime, And departing leave behind us Footsteps on the sands of time.

Footsteps which perhaps another, Sailing o'er life's solemn main, A forlorn and shipwreck'd brother, Seeing, may take heart again."

Well; it is a great triumph of the peoled. ple over political intrigue and corruption. It is a triumph of the intelligence and virtue of the State in sending Morse instead of his competitor. It is as unexpected and highly desirable success to the whigs of Maine and the Union, as Mr, Morse is an able honest, faithful, whole souled whig. The election of Mr. Morse is a just reward for his perseverance in upright political and moral sentiments, and in the faithful discharge of every duty imposed upon him. Many of his political opponents rejoice in his election, as they know that in the station he is to occupy he will confer honor upon his district and the State. We rejoice with the whigs of Lincoln and Oxford in their success. We rejoice with the whigs of Maine, that two whigs, of whom all are proud, will occupy seats in the next Con-

Clapp, Esq., of Portland, have been appointed the committee of correspondence for this State, by the convention of claimants for indemnity for spoliations by France prior to 1800, recently assembled in the city of New York.

Justice, on the part of the Government in this matter has been long delayed, and we hope alo who are interested in these claims will avail themselves of the opportunity now extended to them by the convention to unite in bringing them before the present Congress.

The New York Sun, in an article on the subject of education, expresses the opinion that no city of any size, does so much for education as New rent and too often reasonable topic of abuse and complaint-here is one, at least, where there is just ground for praise. There can hardly be a wiser method of laying out the people's money, than in educating the people's children.

Our own city of Bangor expends more money in proportion to its wealth and its population than New York, although it is highly honorable to that city that the cause of education occupies so high a place.

School for Apprentices.

We understand that the school for apprentices, in this city, will be opened this day, in the new and elegant school room on Union street. We are indebted to the attentions of Capt. Bryant, Agent of Gilman & Co's Express for a bountiful supply of papers on Saturday

The Boston Mail contains the following extract from a letter received from Paris, by the Rev. Dr. O'Connell, Hon. Secretary for the propogation of the Faith:-"On the 26 of May last, the Rev. Mr Libois, Procurator of the Foreign Missions at Macao, wrote to his Lordship the Bishop of Druisparis:-"I received yesterday very sad intelligence, which I hasten to communicate to your lordship-Dr. Castro, the Administrator Apostolic of Pekin, announced to me that, according to the information which reached him in January, 1843, his lordship, Dr. Imbert, and Messrs, Chastan and Mauban, were beheaded in the month of September, 1839, seventy christians were also beheaded, and a hundred and eighty were strangled. Murder of the Castner Family in New Jersey. Confession of the Murderer! The Philadelphia Mercury contains the following startling piece of information:--It will be recollected that during last winter or spring a horrible murder of several members of a family took place in Wairen county, New Jersey. A man named Curter was arrested and put upon his trial for these murders, but on account of the jusy in his case not being able to agree, he was set at liberty. Some circumstances have since transpired that may lead, if true, to the punishment of the real participators TOOTH BRUSHES! TOOTH BRUSH. in this awful tragedy. They are these.

On Wednesday night, a man named Augustus Miller went into a German boarding house in New Market street, near Pegg, and got into a controversy with one of the boarders, named William Heyer, afterwards he returned to his own stopping place, which it seems was in this neighborhood, and on last night he came back and renewed the subject of the preceding eve-

He said that by giving him up he could make $1000, but begged him to say nothing about it until he got another night's rest. L. immediately told Heyer the statement which he had made, and Heyer then went for a watchman and had;

There is nothing deleterious in its composition, and the most delicate female in any condition may take it with perfect safety. The price of it in nearly all cases where used is more than saved by the mother getting up, and recovering her strength so as to be able to dismiss her nurse one to two weeks sooner than in ordinary cases. All persons wishing for further information respecting it, are referred to a pamphlet of a dozen or more pages accompanying the medicine (which may be had gratis of any agent,) containing some general remarks upon the subject, proper and important to be read by all females, also

SIR-I have been for many years a sufferer from the ravages of Scrofula and Cancerous Humors, which at last seated on the vitals, and exhibited all the threatening symptoms of consumption. The general inutility of all remedies awakened my enquiries as to the thousand different methods of cure, to most of which I had recourse without receiving benefit. I accidentally noticed a remarkable cure by Lorraine's Pills, and was induced to give them a trial. I sent to Boston and got a box. By the use of them I found immediate relief and was soon re stored to a perfect state of health. J. E. NEWHALL. Salem, 21st May, 1841.

The following letter from J. B. Light, Esq. is wor

Sin-It ook one of Lorraine's Vegetable Pills last evening for a pain in my head, that had effected me for several days, occasioned by taking cold. I soon felt very calm, and quiet, and a state of general repose came on which had great charms, and I enjoy ed one of the most comfortable and refreshing nights rest that I ever did in my life. I rose in the morning in my usual state of health, and believe it is my duty to recommend this medicine. J. B. LIGHT.

Yours truly. Nov. 20th, 1841.

[From Boston Daily Mail.] Somehody wisely says, that a cap loaded with ewels and flowers will not cure the headache, nor Sarsaparilla. In the year 1832 I sailed from Eng. SALT RHEUM, LEPROSY, SCALD-SALT RHEUM, LEPROSY, SCROFULA, land in a vessel bound for Quebec, and while on the HEAD, ERYSIPELAS, SCROFULA, gold chains prevent the consumption. Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have done both.

SIR-I have been effectually cured of a severe headache by the use of Lorraine's Pills. SARAH NOYES.

SIR-My daughter had all the threatening symp toms of a Consumption, such as cough, pain in the side, &c., together with general debility, but has had her health restored by Lorraine's Pills.

Family Medicine.

SIR-I have used Lorraine's Pills in my family as * family medicine, and I would most earnestly rec ommend them to all persons, as the best medicine that can be procured. I would not be without them -they operate mildly, and never fail to give immediate relief. Until I used these Pills I was obliged valuable article, gradually changing the vitiated secre- to pay from 2rom 25 to $100 per year for medicines

THE CONDITION. The condition upon which nature gives health to man, is a watchful care to keep his stomach and bowels free from morbid and unhealthy accumulations. Lorraine's Pills admirably effect this, because they cleanse the bowels and purify the blood. The human body is always healthy when the bowels are regular, the blood circulates freely, and disease invariably commences when obstructions take place in the bowels. The extraordinary virtues of Lorraine's Pil.s depends upon extracts of over 50 different vegetables, all so admirably combined as to purify, acurish and invigorate the human system. For sale by G. W. HOLDEN, Bangor.

In August last, by the advice of friends, I went to the New York City Hospital, but was there told that my case was incurable. The disease now enveloped my whole body, rendering me almost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked and blood and matter ran, and life itself became almost a burden. A few weeks since I was induced to use your Sarsaparilla by hearing it so highly recommended, hav ing spent nearly $3,000 without obtaining but little relief. After using it a short time, I found myself better, and now, by using six or eight bottles, costing me less than ten dollars, I am well. Yes, I certify and declare to the world, that after spending near $3,000 in traveling and doctoring, and suffer ing more than can be told, I was perfectly cured by using your invaluable preparation of Sarsaparlila; and I now recommend it to all similarly afflicted. THE SICK HEADACHE. THIS DISEASE is one from which tripes more misery to the human family than is generally supposed; not being directly fatal, it is often neglected ed, or persons resort so much to the use of purgitives and other medicines as to impair their gener al health, and often induce fatal diseases. The article—Dr. Spohn's HEADACHE REMEDY, now difficulties. Offered seems to have overcome these difficulties. While its effects are most powerful and immediate in curing an attack or keeping it off, it is so perfectly mild and innocent as to be used for infants with the greatest effect and safety. This has not been tested by so many of the highest members of this community. this community as to require no further proof.
